

Galyna Gurina
Soprano

Galyna Gurina was born in Yalta, Ukraine, in 1983, where she began her vocal studies at eleven years old with the soprano Alla Spiridonova. When she was fourteen years old she made her debut with the Krim Orchestra of Ukraine. She continued her vocal studies at the Conservatory of Music in Odessa with Kistenyova Olena.

Since the 2005-2006 academic year, she has been studying in Spain at the Escuela Superior de Musica Reina Sofia with professor Tom Krause, head of the school's vocal department. She has been awarded scholarships from both the MAE-AECI and Fundacion Albeniz. As a student of this School, she has participated in Master Classes with Teresa Berganza and Ilona Tokody.

She was awarded second prize at the Anton Dvorak International Vocal Competition in Karlovy Vary (Czech Republic) in 2004.

She has since performed in many concerts in Ukraine and Spain (including Beethoven's Ninth Symphony with the National Orchestra and Choir of Spain).
